

Crumble

Chronomancer

Line of Sight

This spell can only target inanimate structures, such as buildings and walls. The spellcaster rapidly speeds up the passing of time in a small area of the structure, causing it to collapse. This can create a doorway-sized hole through any wall- indicate this usage with an appropriate marker. The spell can also be used to collapse a section of the floor beneath a figure standing on a level above the ground- a figure about to be affected must pass a Move Roll (TN22) or fall to the next level down and take damage appropriately. This spell will completely destroy a wall created by casting the Wall spell. This spell will cancel a Wizard Eye spell if successfully cast on the terrain holding the Eye.

Decay

Chronomancer

Line of Sight

The spellcaster selects and attacks a target's weapon. A successful cast causes the weapon to decay and fall apart; this will render it useless for the rest of the game. This spell has no effect on magic weapons (even those only temporarily enchanted). This spell has no effect on creatures (unless they are specifically identified as being equipped with a weapon from the General Arms and Armour List).

Fast Act

Chronomancer

Line of Sight

The spell may only be cast on a member of the spellcaster's warband or an uncontrolled creature. This figure will activate at the end of the current phase instead of in its normal phase. Spellcasters may not cast this spell on themselves nor on a figure that has already activated in the current turn.

Petrify

Chronomancer

Line of Sight

The target figure must make an immediate Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll. If it fails it receives no actions in its next activation. The figure also suffers -3 Fight (to a minimum of +0) and may not have Leap cast upon it until after it makes its next move action. Large creatures receive +8 to their Will Roll to resist this spell.

Slow

Chronomancer

Line of Sight

The target is reduced to a maximum of one action per activation (this action does not have to be movement). It may make an Will Roll versus the Casting Roll at the end of each of its activations. If successful the spell is cancelled.

Time Store

Chronomancer

Self Only

The spellcaster captures a fragment of their own present to save for future use. The spellcaster must be able to take two actions during their activation in order to cast this spell. They must spend the first action casting Time Store; success results in a loss of the second action. This spellcaster is now considered to have a stored extra action that they may use in a future turn. This action can only be used during the spellcaster's activation and can give the spellcaster three actions in one activation.

Time Walk

Chronomancer

Wizard Only

Wizard only. The wizard will activate again in the Apprentice phase and the Soldier phase. This is in addition to the figures that can normally activate in those phases. The wizard may not activate any additional soldiers or be part of a group activation in these phases. The wizard may perform one action in each of these two phases and may take any action- they are not limited to movement. Additional move actions are at half rate if the wizard moved at all in a previous activation during the turn. If a wizard casts this spell in consecutive turns they immediately suffer 8 points of damage.

Elemental Ball

Elementalist

Line of Sight

Range: 16"

The spellcaster selects an enemy figure within 16" and line of sight and hurls a ball of destructive elemental energy at it. The target and every figure within 1" and line of sight of the target immediately suffers a +5 elemental magic shooting attack. Roll this shooting attack separately for each figure. Treat the target figure as the origin of the attack for the purposes of determining cover or intervening terrain for all other figures suffering the attack. ## Elemental Hammer

Elementalist

Line of Sight

This spell is cast upon a weapon. This weapon inflicts an additional 5 points of elemental magic damage the next time the figure wielding this weapon wins a round of combat and does at least 1 point of damage. If cast on a normal weapon and the weapon is then used against a creature that is Immune to Normal Weapons this weapon will only deal the 5 points of elemental magic damage. If cast on a bow or crossbow the spell only applies to the next attack.

Scatter Shot

Elementalist

Area Effect

All enemies within 12" in LoS

The spellcaster makes a +0 elemental magic shooting attack against every enemy figure (either from an opposing warband or uncontrolled creature) within 12" and line of sight. This may include enemy figures in combat (the normal rules for shooting into combat are followed in this case).

Wall

Elementalist

Line of Sight

Range: 10"

This spell creates a magical wall with dimensions 6" long and 3" high; part of this wall must be within 10" and line of sight of the spellcaster. This wall can be climbed as normal. Roll a die at the end of each turn after the turn in which the spell was cast; on a 1-4 the wall vanishes.

Animate Construct

Enchanter

Out of Game (B)

It is assumed that the spellcaster has built a construct prior to using this spell to animate it. If the spell is successfully cast the construct immediately becomes a permanent member of the warband; the construct takes the place of a soldier. A spellcaster must declare the size of construct they are attempting to animate (small, medium, or large- see page 183) before rolling to cast the spell. The following modifiers are applied to the Casting Roll: Small -0, Medium -3, Large -6. There is no limit to the number of constructs in a warband other than the normal limits for soldiers. Large constructs count as specialist soldiers; small and medium count as standard soldiers.

Control Construct

Enchanter

Line of Sight

The target construct must make an immediate Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll. A failure results in the construct becoming a temporary member of the spellcaster's warband. This control lasts for the rest of the game or until the spell is cancelled. The spellcaster may spend an action to cancel this spell. A spellcaster may only control one construct at a time.

Embed Enchantment

Enchanter

Out of Game (A)

This spell causes any one Enchant Armour or Enchant Weapon spell that is still active at the end of a game to become permanent; the weapon or armour in question becomes a magic weapon or armour. The newly created magic weapon or armour takes up an item slot as normal.

Enchant Weapon

Enchanter

Line of Sight

This spell targets a weapon of the spellcaster's choosing: Melee weapon- this weapon counts as a magic weapon with +1 Fight, Bow or crossbow- this weapon counts as a magic weapon with +1 Shoot. Attacks made with this weapon do not count as magic attacks, OR A single arrow or crossbow bolt- the ammunition gives +1 Shoot and its attack counts as magic for the next shooting attack *only*. This spell may only be cast once on each weapon. When using both a magic missile weapon and magic ammunition the bonuses do not stack; the shooter may choose to apply the bonus of one or the other.

Grenade

Enchanter

Line of Sight

Range: 14"

The spellcaster takes an object (commonly a simple rock) and imbues it with magic energy; then the object is thrown at their target whereupon it explodes into hundreds of fragments. The spellcaster picks a target point within 14". Every figure (including allies) within 1.5" of that point immediately suffers a +3 magic shooting attack. Use the target point as the origin of the attack for working out line of sight and cover.

Telekinesis

Enchanter

Line of Sight

The spellcaster may move any treasure token within 16" by up to 6" in any direction so long as it remains in line of sight the entire time. A treasure moved this way immediately falls straight to the ground if it moves out of line of sight. This spell has no effect on a treasure token that has any special requirements for how and when it can be picked up; it also does not affect a treasure being carried by a figure. This spell may not target the central treasure until after that treasure has been picked up for the first time.

Beauty

Illusionist

Self Only

This spell causes anyone who looks on the spellcaster to see a paragon of beauty. Any member of an opposing warband must make a Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll if they wish to do any of the following: move into combat with the spellcaster, make a shooting attack that could potentially hit the spellcaster (including shooting attacks generated by spells), or cast any spell that targets the spellcaster. Spellcasters may empower this Will Roll in the same way they would to resist a spell. A figure may only attempt such a Will Roll once per turn. This spell has no effect on creatures (anything found in Chapter Six: Bestiary p. 176) or war hounds.

Blink

Illusionist

Line of Sight

Range: 12"

This spell may target any figure within 12". Move that figure 4" in a random direction. A figure may make a Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll in order to resist this spell; the figure does not move if it resists. Uncontrolled creatures will always attempt this Will Roll.

Fool's Gold

Illusionist

Line of Sight

This spell may only be cast on a figure carrying a treasure token. That figure must make an immediate Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll. If it fails the spellcaster may take the treasure token from the figure and move it up to 4" in any direction (provided the final spot is within line of sight of the spellcaster).

Illusionary Soldier

Illusionist

Out of Game (B) OR Range: Touch (1")
Touch

An illusionary soldier becomes a temporary member of the warband for the next battle (if cast Out of Game) or until the end of the game (if cast during a battle). This soldier can be of any type found on the Soldier Tables (pages 30 and 31) except an apothecary. This soldier cannot pick up treasure, nor can it deal damage, but will otherwise count as a regular soldier for all other purposes: it may engage in combat though it deals no damage if it wins (it would still have the option to push back its opponent). It may lend support to other figures in combat. If the illusionary soldier ever suffers damage of any type, it is removed. A warband may only have one illusionary soldier at any given time. The player must reveal which member of their warband is the illusionary soldier.

Invisibility

Illusionist

Range: Touch (1")

The target figure becomes invisible. No figure may move into combat with the invisible figure nor target it with any attack or spell (although it may still be affected by area effects such as the blast radius of a Grenade spell). If the invisible figure does any of the following: moves into combat, casts a spell, OR picks up a treasure token, the Invisibility spell is canceled. This spell may be cast on a figure already carrying treasure which will render both invisible. In this case the spell is canceled if the figure drops the treasure.

Transpose

Illusionist

Line of Sight

Both targets within 12"

This spell switches the position of two figures on the table. The two figures being transposed must both be within line of sight of the spellcaster and within 12" of one another. The spellcaster may cast Transpose to switch themselves with another figure. Members of opposing warbands are eligible targets for being transposed but may make a Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll to attempt to resist the spell. A successful Will Roll cancels the spell and no figures are moved. Friendly figures and uncontrolled creatures will not make such Will Rolls.

Animate Skull

Necromancer

Line of Sight

Range: 6"

The spellcaster fills a skull with magic malice and throws it at an opponent. Place one animated skull (page 190) within 6" of the spellcaster. It can be placed directly into combat. This skull is an uncontrolled creature. The spellcaster may not cast this spell again until this creature is removed from the table; the caster may spend an action to cancel the spell, which will immediately removed the animated skull from the table.

Bones of the Earth

Necromancer

Line of Sight

Range: 18"

A skeletal hand reaches out of the ground and grabs the target's ankle. The figure may not take any move actions until it escapes. Any form of magic movement (except the Leap spell) allows a figure to escape the hand; otherwise the only escape is to fight the hand. The hand has Fight +0 and Health 1. One point of damage is sufficient to destroy the hand and free the target. Other figures in base contact may attack the hand or give a support bonus. If the hand wins the fight it does damage as normal. This spell may only be cast against a target that is standing on the ground. Large creatures are unaffected by this spell. The maximum range for this spell is 18".

Control Undead

Necromancer

Line of Sight

The target undead creature must make an immediate Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll. A failure indicates that the undead creature becomes a temporary member of the spellcaster's warband. This control lasts for the rest of the game or until the spell is cancelled. The spellcaster may spend an action to cancel this spell. A spellcaster may only control one undead creature at a time.

Raise Zombie

Necromancer

Out of Game (B) OR

Range: Touch (1")

The spellcaster adds one zombie (page 193) to their warband as a temporary member. The zombie can be deployed normally if cast before the game. If it is cast during a game the zombie appears in base contact with the spellcaster. A warband may only have one raised zombie at any one time. If the zombie is killed or exits the table, Raise Zombie can be cast again to create another.

Steal Health

Necromancer

Line of Sight

The target must make an immediate Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll. A failure indicates the target immediately loses 3 Health and the spellcaster regains 3 Health. The spellcaster gains 3 Health even if the target had less Health than that remaining. This may not take the spellcaster above their starting Health. This spell has no effect on undead or constructs. A spellcaster may target a member of their own warband- if they do the target immediately and permanently leaves the warband and is treated as an uncontrolled creature for the rest of the game.

Necromancer

Line of Sight

Range: 8"

This spell targets a figure within 8". The target must make a Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll or be immediately reduced to 0 Health. All figures may empower their Will Roll to resist this spell (even non-spellcasters). The spellcaster immediately loses 1 Health upon attempting this spell (even if it is cast successfully) in addition to any loss incurred by failure or empowerment. ## Absorb Knowledge

Sigilist

Out of Game (A)

Wizard Only

This spell allows a wizard to absorb the knowledge from a written work without having to read it. A wizard immediately gains 40 experience points for casting this spell to represent the speed with which they can gain knowledge. This experience does not count against the maximum that can be earned in one game. This spell may only be cast after a game in which the wizard was not reduced to 0 Health.

Bridge

Sigilist

Line of Sight

The spellcaster uses the parchment of a long scroll to create a temporary bridge, ramp, or staircase. Place a bridge 6" long and 2" wide anywhere that is completely in the line of sight of the spellcaster. The bridge has no appreciable thickness and is essentially two-dimensional. The ends of this bridge do not have to be on the same horizontal plane, nor do they need to be anchored on terrain—they may float in the air. Figures may move along this bridge at their normal movement rate even when essentially climbing. Each spellcaster may only have one bridge in play at any time. Whenever the spellcaster activates they may cancel this spell as a free action. Otherwise roll a die at the end of every turn: on a 1-2 the bridge vanishes. Figures on the bridge when it vanishes will fall to the ground.

Area Effect

Table

This spell draws a bright rune of power in the sky. The spellcaster may choose one spell for Draining Word to affect. All rolls to attempt to cast that particular spell are at -3 for the rest of the game. A spellcaster may only have one Draining Word spell in effect at a time. Only one Draining Word can be active for each specific target spell at one time.

Explosive Rune

Sigilist

Line of Sight

Range: 4"

The spellcaster draws a glowing rune of power on the ground or a wall anywhere within 4" and line of sight. A marker should be placed on the table to represent the rune. If any character or creature that was not part of the spellcaster's warband at the start of the game moves within 1" of the rune it explodes. Every figure (friend or foe) within 2" suffers an immediate +5 magic attack. Note that if the rune is placed within 1" of a figure it does not explode immediately—that figure must move to set it off. A spellcaster may have up to three such runes in play at any time. At the end of any turn they may choose to cancel any or all their runes. If the spellcaster that placed a rune is no longer on the table a die must be rolled for each rune at the end of each turn: on an 11+ the rune vanishes.

Furious Quill

Sigilist

Line of Sight

The target is attacked by a sharp animated quill. The quill does no damage but it is highly irritating and extremely distracting. The target suffers -1 Move, -2 Fight, -4 Shoot, and -2 to all Casting Rolls while under attack from the quill. The target may make a Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll when activating; a success indicates that the quill is caught and destroyed. Multiple castings of Furious Quill against the same target have no effect.

Power Word

Sigilist

Area Effect

Table

This spell draws a bright rune of power in the sky. The spellcaster may pick one spell for the Power Word to affect. All rolls to cast that particular spell are at +3 for every spellcaster for the rest of the game. A spellcaster may only have one Power Word spell in effect at a time. Only one Power Word can be active for each specific target spell at one time.

Push

Sigilist

Line of Sight

The target suffers an immediate +10 attack; instead of taking damage the target is moved 1" directly away from the spellcaster for every point of damage they would have taken. If this pushes the target into the edge of the table or a piece of terrain over 1/2" high they stop immediately. Other figures do not stop (or get hit by) a pushed figure—they are assumed to step out of the way. If this spell is cast from beneath a figure it will push them up. If the target is pushed up or off a height it suffers falling damage as normal. This spell can push a figure out of combat; it is not a shooting attack so the target is not randomized.

Write Scroll

Sigilist

Out of Game (A)

This spell creates one scroll. The scroll must be of a spell that the spellcaster either knows or a spell for which they own the grimoire. The scroll may be sold, given to a figure, or stored in the wizard's vault.

Awareness

Soothsayer

Out of Game (B)

If this spellcaster is on the table its warband may add +2 to its Initiative Rolls for the purposes of determining the primary player only. This bonus stacks; if both the wizard and the apprentice have cast this spell and are both on the table the player may add +4 to their Initiative Rolls. The maximum possible bonus is +4. This spell counts as active on the spellcaster during the game and may be canceled by anything that cancels spells.

Combat Awareness

Soothsayer

Range: Touch (1")

This spell gives the target a magic insight into the moves their opponent will attempt in a fight. It grants the target +1 Fight and +1 Armour for the remainder of the game. Multiple castings of this spell on the same target have no effect.

School Target Numbers:

Mind Control

Soothsayer

Line of Sight

The target figure must make an immediate Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll- if failed, the target temporarily joins the spellcaster's warband and activates as normal. After the figure activates each turn it must make another Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll. A success cancels the spell and the figure returns to its normal allegiance. A spellcaster may only have one active Mind Control spell at a time. A figure under Mind Control cannot purposely take any action that causes it immediate damage but can be moved into combat and may attack an enemy figure. A figure under Mind Control is not allowed to move off the table. A spellcaster may cancel an active Mind Control at the end of any turn. This spell has no effect on spellcasters.

Mind Lock

Soothsayer

Line of Sight

The target of this spell becomes immune to Mind Control and Suggestion spells for the rest of the game; any current Mind Control spells on the figure are canceled. The figure gains +2 Will for the rest of the game.

Reveal Secret

Soothsayer

Out of Game (B)

This spell imparts knowledge on some lost treasure. Every successful casting of this spell before a game allows the player to make two rolls for a single treasure token after the game and choose which one to take. The central treasure is unaffected by this spell.

School Target Numbers:

Suggestion

Soothsayer

Line of Sight

The target of this spell immediately drops any treasure tokens it is carrying. The spellcaster may move the figure up to 3" in any direction provided this does not move the figure into combat or cause it any immediate damage (e.g. falling more than 3"). The target of this spell may make a Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll. A success indicates that the spell has no effect.

True Sight

Soothsayer

Self Only

6" radius

The spellcaster and all friendly figures within 6" of the spellcaster can see invisible figures and are immune to the effects of the Beauty spell. If an invisible figure is within 6" of the spellcaster the Invisibility spell is canceled. If an Illusionary Soldier is within 6" of the spellcaster it is immediately removed from the table.

Wizard Eye

Soothsayer

Line of Sight

Range: 12"

This spell may be cast on any terrain feature within 12" that has a flat side. Place a token on or next to the terrain feature to represent the Wizard Eye. For the rest of the game the caster may choose to draw line of sight from the Wizard Eye instead of from the figure when casting spells. The Wizard Eye has 180-degree field of vision. A spellcaster may only maintain one Wizard Eye at a time. If the terrain piece on which the Wizard Eye is placed is damaged or destroyed (such as by a Crumble spell) the spell is cancelled. The spellcaster may cancel this spell at the end of any turn.

Control Demon

Summoner

Line of Sight

The target demon must make an immediate Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll. A failure indicates that it becomes a temporary member of the spellcaster's warband. This control lasts for the rest of the game or until the spell is canceled. The spellcaster may spend an action to cancel this spell. A spellcaster may only control one demon at a time.

Imp

Summoner

Line of Sight

The spellcaster places an imp (page 184) on the table anywhere within the spellcaster's line of sight (but no closer than 3" to any other figure). The imp follows the normal rules for uncontrolled creatures and will activate in the next Creature phase. If the spellcaster casts this spell a second time, the first imp immediately vanishes.

Leap

Summoner

Line of Sight

This spell may only be cast on a member of the spellcaster's warband. Immediately move the target figure up to 10" in any direction (including vertically). This move must either be in a straight line or an arc. It cannot curve around corners. If this move leaves the figure above the ground it immediately falls and takes damage as normal. If the target is carrying treasure this move is reduced to 5". This move may not take a figure off the table or into combat. The target of the Leap spell may take no other actions this turn; it may have taken actions previously.

Plague of Insects

Summoner

Line of Sight

The target figure is attacked by a cloud of stinging or biting insects that irritate and distract. The cloud of insects has a 1" radius centred on (and moving with) the target figure. It affects all figures (including the target figure) fully or partially within this radius. While being pestered by the insects a figure has -4 Fight, -4 Shoot (both to a minimum of +0), and -2 to Casting Rolls. After this figure activates each turn it may make a Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll. Success indicates the spell is canceled. Other figures within the radius may simply move away to escape. A figure may only ever be affected by one Plague of Insects spell at a time; this applies to both targets and figures within the 1" radius. Large creatures, undead, and constructs are immune to this spell.

Planar Tear

Summoner

Line of Sight

The spellcaster creates a small tear in the fabric of the universe. This rift is painful to humans and creatures, but lethal to demons. The spellcaster selects a target point. All figures within 2" of that point must make a Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll or suffer 2 points of damage. Demons that fail the Will Roll take damage equal to the Casting Roll.

Plane Walk

Summoner

Self Only

Although the spellcaster remains in the same physical location, they move briefly between planes of existence. For the rest of this turn they can ignore all terrain when moving (thus walking through walls or across chasms). They may not be the target of any shooting attacks or spells. The spellcaster will never be considered in combat during the turn; they cannot be attacked by any figure. They may not pick up treasure or in any way affect other figures or terrain on the table. If they are carrying treasure they drop it. It is incredibly draining to move between planes of existence; if a spellcaster attempts to cast this spell in a second consecutive turn, they suffer a -5 modifier to their Casting Roll (-10 if they attempt it three turns in a row, -15 on the fourth turn and beyond).

Possess

Summoner

Line of Sight

This spell may only be cast on a permanent or temporary member of the spellcaster's own warband (except the wizard, apprentice, or demons). The target is possessed by a demon and gains +2 Fight, +1 Armour, and -2 Will and counts as a demon (i.e. it will be affected by Banish, Control Demon, Circle of Protection, etc.). This figure may not be part of a group activation. If removed from the game for any reason (such as being hit by a Banish spell) check for the character's survival as normal. A spellcaster may only have one Possess spell active at a time.

Necromancer: 14	Witch: 14

Summon Demon

Summoner

Range: Touch (1")

Immediately place a demon on the table within 1" of the spellcaster. It may not be placed straight into combat. This demon is considered to be under the effects of a Control Demon spell by the same spellcaster (this spell may not be cast if the spellcaster is already controlling a demon). The type of demon summoned depends on the amount by which the spellcaster succeeded on their Casting Roll: 0-5 imp, 6-12 minor demon, 13+ major demon. If a spellcaster rolls a 1 while attempting to cast this spell they summon an uncontrolled demon and must place this demon in combat with the spellcaster. Roll a die to determine the type of demon: 1-10 imp, 11-17 minor demon, 18+ major demon. A spellcaster cannot empower a roll of 1 when casting this spell but there is otherwise no limit on empowering this spell. It may be empowered above 18.

Banish

Thaumaturge

Line of Sight

All demons within line of sight of the spellcaster must pass an immediate Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll. If a demon fails the roll and its current Will is +4 or less it is immediately reduced to 0 Health and removed from the table. If its current Will is +5 or higher it suffers damage equal to three times the amount by which it failed the Will Roll.

Blinding Light

Thaumaturge

Line of Sight

The target must make an immediate Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll. A failure indicates that it may not attack / shoot / cast Line of Sight spells. Its Fight stat is reduced to +0 and its Move to 1. At the end of each turn the figure may attempt another Will Roll with the same Target Number. Success indicates the spell is cancelled.

Circle of Protection

Thaumaturge

Range: Touch (1")

Creates a circle with a 3" diameter which no demon or undead creature can enter or pass through. If something forces them into contact with the circle they stop at its edge. A spellcaster may only have one active circle of protection at a time but they do not have to remain within it. The spellcaster may cancel this spell at the end of any turn. Roll a die at the end of every turn: on a 1-3 the spell is cancelled.

Destroy Undead

Thaumaturge

Line of Sight

The target undead creature must make a Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll. If the undead creature fails the roll and its current Will is +2 or less it is immediately reduced to 0 Health and removed from the table. If its current Will is +3 or higher it suffers damage equal to three times the amount by which it failed the Will Roll.

Miraculous Cure

Thaumaturge

Out of Game

(A)/Wizard Only

Wizard only. This spell may be used in several different ways. A successful casting of this spell will remove all permanent injuries from one figure. Example: a wizard suffering from Lost Fingers regains all their missing digits regardless of how many times they have suffered that particular injury. It may also be cast on a Badly Wounded figure- if successful the soldier is healed and may participate in the next game with no penalty. It may also be used to attempt to bring a figure back from the dead. The figure must have died in the game just played and using the spell in this fashion incurs a -4 penalty to the Casting Roll. A success restores the figure to life and the figure may participate in the next game with no penalty. If Miraculous Cure is cast using a scroll it cannot be used to resurrect the dead.

Animal Companion

Witch

Out of Game (B)

The spellcaster summons an animal companion of their choice from the following options to become a permanent member of their warband: bear (page 179), ice toad (page 180), snow leopard (page 182), wolf (page 182). All Animal Companions count as standard soldiers. Animal companions are more strong-willed than wild examples of their species and receive a permanent +3 Will. A spellcaster may only have one animal companion at any time.

Brew Potion

Witch

Out of Game (B)

The spellcaster creates one Lesser Potion of their choice (page 86) that may be sold, stored in the wizard's vault, or given to a member of the warband. A wizard (and only a wizard) may use this spell to create a Greater Potion (page 87). First they must declare what potion they are attempting to brew and pay the listed ingredients cost. The wizard should then roll to cast Brew Potion with a -4 to the Casting Roll. A success indicates the potion is created and may immediately be assigned to a figure in the warband, sold, or stored in the wizard's vault. If unsuccessful the potion is not created and the money spent on ingredients is lost.

Control Animal

Witch

Line of Sight

The target animal must make an immediate Will Roll with a Target Number equal to the Casting Roll. Failure indicates that the animal becomes a temporary member of the spellcaster's warband. This control lasts for the rest of the game or until the spell is cancelled. The spellcaster may spend an action to cancel this spell. A spellcaster may only control one animal at a time.

Curse

Witch

Line of Sight

The target suffers -2 to all die rolls. At the end of each turn the target may make a Will Roll with the Target Number equal to the Casting Roll (at -2 due to the Curse). A success cancels this spell. Curse cannot be cast on a figure already suffering the effects of a Curse spell.

Familiar

Witch

Out of Game (B)

The spellcaster gains a familiar which can take the form of any small creature. It is not depicted on the table unless the player wants to include it on the spellcaster figure. A spellcaster with a familiar gains +2 Health (write as a split stat). If the spellcaster is ever reduced to 1 Health or less the familiar is destroyed. At the start of the next game the spellcaster reverts to their normal Health unless another Familiar spell is successfully cast.

Fog

Witch

Line of Sight Range: 24"

Place a line of fog 6" long, 3" high, and 1" thick anywhere on the table as long as some part of it is within line of sight of the spellcaster and all of it is within 24". Figures can move through the fog with no penalty, though line of sight may not be drawn through it. At the start of each new turn roll a die: on a result of 1-4 the fog dissipates and is removed from the table.
